

BEST PRACTICE

WHICH JOB WOULD SUIT ME?

There are so many different jobs out there that choosing what you want to do can feel a bit daunting.

When thinking about what jobs you may enjoy, it can help to think about how your personality fits in with different work environments.

Have a look over the six different career types below and try to identify your own personality and interests:

Creator

Creators have big imaginations and like making things from scratch. You're probably quite an emotional person, but you know how to put this to good use! You are also good at expressing yourself and love art, music, books and drama.

Does this describe you?

Jobs in this category include: Photographer, journalist and a chef.

: Roads of Remembrance and Identity – Migration Stories from Romania

Doer

Do-ers are practical kind of people who like working with machines and tools. You're good at building things and don't like being cooped up inside all day.

Sound familiar?

Jobs in this category include: Plumber, fitness instructor and a fire-fighter.

Helper

Helpers are kind and patient types who enjoy working with people. You're a good listener, and like helping others with their problems. You believe in doing the right thing and are most happy when you're able to help someone else.

Sound familiar? Then take a look at some jobs that might suit you...

Jobs in this category are: Teacher, counsellor and a nurse.

Organiser

Organisers like things to be neat, accurate and in order. You work hard and like to collect and organise things. You enjoy working within a system, and are good at attention to detail.

Everything in order? Have a look some of these career options...

Jobs in this category include: Accountant and a wedding planner.

Persuder

Persuaders are self-confident types! You like being a leader and making important decisions. You're ambitious and want to succeed.

Sound like you?

Jobs in this Category involve: Manager and a hotel manager.

Thinker

Thinkers are logical people who like doing research and exploring different ideas. You're good at working with computers, and can get your head around numbers and data. You tend to be pretty curious, and believe that most problems can be solved by sitting down and thinking things through.

Does this sound right?

Jobs in this category include: Solicitor and web designer.

